

Revolution: A Reader

Identity is very ungenerous and completely non-erotic. If we can't live without striving to lose every aspect of our putative self-knowledge in our search for the other, there is no hope for relationship, and hence for politics. It is this crucial loss that the regulatory state would prevent. In revolution, we must become unrecognizable to ourselves, de-vested.

http:// revolutionreader.com